About:

The Brent Woodall Foundation for Exceptional Children (BWF) is a public charity dedicated to empowering parents of children with autism and developmental disabilities, located in Irving, Texas. The BWF's Spanish Outreach program is designed to bring Spanish-speaking families in the Dallas-Fort Worth area the resources and tools they need to help their own children. Spanish Outreach interns will assist BWF staff in conducting Family FIRST meetings and assessments, translating documents, and communicating with parents. Interns will receive basic training in Applied Behavior Analysis therapy.
